

advertisement

EUROPEAN TOUCH
19240 BEACH BLVD
HUNTINGTON BEACH, CA 92648
(714) 378-0990

Newport Beach and Costa Mesa, California

HOME NEWS SPORTS REAL ESTATE AUTOMOTIVE JOBS CLASSIFIEDS SHOPPING

May 26, 2007

Search

go >

EDUCATION

60 forecast...

Updated: May 24, 2007 - 22:39:14 PDT

Surf Report

ISLAND REAL ESTATE

Live in Newport Beach
949-723-1363

Newport Heights students mobilize to skate

- Create A Skate founder praises kids for hard work in bringing program there, emphasizes the importance of math and science.

By Michael Miller
Reader Feedback - Currently No comments posted.
Comments

Paul Schmitt, founder and president of Create A Skate, came to Newport Heights Elementary School Thursday with a definite message to students: You will have to use math and science in the future.

If you want to be a world-class skateboarder, that is.

Schmitt, who lives in Newport Beach and operates his manufacturing company out of Costa Mesa, visited Newport Heights along with professional skateboarder

Story Tools

Email Story | Print Story

Text Size

More Stories

- UC Irvine pays tribute to Aldrich
- Take a look at Costa Mesa's best scholars
- Soldier visits kids to say thanks
- Costa Mesa students honored

NABERS PONTIAC

Price: $10,977

1999DeVilleCadillac

Price: $10,850

1996SevilleCadillac

NABERSAUTOMALL.COM

CAREFUL DESIGN: James Klobe, 12, examines an unfinished skateboard during the Create A Skate presentation in the multipurpose room at Newport Heights Elementary School on Thursday.

advertisement

News
Sports
Business Education
Opinion
Politics & Government
Blogs & Columns
Features
Public Safety
Religion
Entertainment

RSS
Email Alerts
Archives
Community Links
Special Sections
Classifieds
Obituaries

Customer Service
Times Community
News
Coastline Pilot
Daily Pilot
Huntington Beach
Independent
Los Angeles Times

Christian Hosoi to deliver board-making supplies to more than 100 students. Five classes at the school raised money to participate in the Create A Skate program, holding bake sales, doing chores at home and even writing to local businesses.

According to the Create A Skate website, students are encouraged to raise a $15 participation fee independently, that is, without relying on parents or relatives.

Principal Kurt Suhr, an avid skateboarder himself, said students would create their boards in class over the coming weeks. At Thursday's assembly, Schmitt presented Suhr and teachers Gabriel del Real and Marc Africano with certificates for having constructed boards on their own.

Hosoi, a professional athlete since the 1970s, praised the students not only for applying their interest in math and science, but also for organizing themselves to apply for Create A Skate.

"They do it for themselves, and I think that shows they can not only build a skateboard, but also raise the money to make things happen," he said.

WANTED
WOMEN
25 - 55

Lose serious weight
in only 12 weeks
We invite you to try
Hoodia XPF for FREE!

get your risk free trial offer!

Hoodia XPF
TRY IT NOW!

- MICHAEL MILLER may be reached at (714) 966-4617 or at michael.miller@latimes.com.

Reader Feedback